Local schools are cited by accreditation group

NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA – The Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, through its Commission on Elementary Schools, has awarded continuing accreditation to Appomattox County Schools by action taken during the Association's 88th Annual Meeting here December 11-14, 1983.

Through accreditation, school staff and faculty members will benefit by knowing that conditions for teaching in accredite schools meet certain minimum standards and that efforts are continuously made to improve these conditions. Regional standards require adequate faculties and facilities and their effective use.

Citizens are assured of accountability and of value for their tax dollars through the process of standard setting and the regular reevaluation of SACS member institutions. Communities with accredited schools can be confident that their institutions compare favorably with others in the region. Accredited schools are a "plus" for those who are interested in relocating their families and businesses.

Founded in 1895, the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools is one of six regional accrediting bodies in the United States. More than 11,000 member public and private universities, colleges, junior colleges, occupational institutions, secondary schools, midle schools, and elementary schools enroll approximately five million students.
